In a dim room, sunlight flickered through the curtains and warm rays kissed your skin as you sat on the edge of your bed, minding your own business. The world felt normalWhat is this place?a blend of exhilaration and comfort rolled into one. You felt it first as a gentle flutter in your core, then cascading, infinitely delightful tingles radiated throughout your body.

"Forget" you murmured. The memories of who you were began to dissolve, washing away like sandcastles beneath the ocean tide.

Your skin started to change, lightening from its natural color to a stunning, pure white. The deep ticklish sensation raced across your cheeks, growing, forming large red circles that glowed with a celestial aura. Each heartbeat resonated, and you found yourself chuckling happily, your confusion slipping away.

Your eyelids merged into a softer light blue, revealing beautiful, shimmering irises, while a euphoric laughter bubbled in your chest, and a shy smile made its way onto your lips.

"This ism changingconfidence blooming within you.

As the ticklish waves continued to wash over you, you marveled at the beauty of it all; a golden halo materialized above your head, swirling gently, showering sparkles like a million tiny suns.

And then, deep inside, a shift occurred. Fluttering through your mind were new memories that bubbled up from within. "It I?" you pondered, the laughter intertwining with your thoughts.

Though memories of your former self tried to cling on, they unraveled with each delightful tickleflying through the skies atop heavenly winds, creating miracles with a flick of your wrist.

As the transformation reached its crescendo and all traces of your human existence slipped into the void, an exhilarating realization washed over you. The divine essence bloomed in your heart as a soft chuckle escaped your lips.

ve always been a heavenborn angel

In your brightening mind, you felt vibrant and ethereal. A rush of artistry pulsed as you reflected on your newfound identity; the beauty of this reality wrapped around you like a thick blanket of cotton candy clouds.

You knew, without a doubt, that your essence was intertwined with joyd remember!" she cried out, enveloping you in a warm embrace, wings wrapping around you like a protective cocoon.

ve always been here,a celebration of being alive as a seraphim, free to dance among the celestial spheres, ethereal and everlasting.

A laugh escaped your lips. Heaven was your home. Here, you could be everything, and you welcomed the euphoric tickle of life as it wrapped around you like the brightest of hues, painting a masterpiece only you could embody.